Experience

Manufacture 2030 | UX/UI Design Lead | Apr 2018 – Current

www.manufacture2030.com

A B2B platform helping corporations to measure and reduce emissions across their global supply chains. Led on various UX/UI projects, including:

- Supply chain emissions data tracking features.
- CO2 emissions calculators: enabling manufacturers to assess environmental impact at the facility level.
- Product Carbon Footprint builder: Worked with sustainability experts to develop a product-level emission intensity calculator, and enable data exchanges between corporations and their suppliers.
- Analytics dashboard: Created based on user feedback, empowering corporations to derive actionable insights from collected data.
- Created a design system: to improve development consistency and efficiency.

UX/UI Designer for ActiveLearn

ActiveLearn is an online platform supporting UK educational institutions. As the sole designer I was responsible for all UX/UI activities including customer research, wireframing, testing, and visual design.

- Devised user journey to consolidate multiple legacy platforms.
- Implement a design system to improve platform consistency and accessibility.
- Features designs: including tools for course planning, test tracking and result analysis to improve overall value offered by the platform.

Senior Designer in Publishing design

- Created identities for various UK Secondary and Vocational learning publications.
- Provided designs and art directions to create materials that are clear for teachers and students, and also stand out amongst competitions.
- Provided project management support to ensure timely delivery of those projects.

Harcourt schools publisher | Managing Designer | 2007 – 2010

- Identities and publishing design for educational materials.
- Provide art direction and project management support for various publications.

Luxury publishing | Freelance designer | 2006 – 2007

- Design for various magazine publications targeted at the luxury lifestyle market.

Summary

Hi,

I'm Siu Hang, a UX designer with over 15 years of experience across UX/UI, visual design, and creative direction. I strongly believe in the value of keeping user experience at the forefront of any design process; and that good design should be both efficacious and visually engaging.

Skilled at user research and problem-solving, I enjoy working collaboratively to tackle complex challenges, and create intuitive designs that deliver values for both users and businesses needs.
