Experience

Manufacture 2030 | UX/UI Design Lead | Apr 2018 – Current

www.manufacture2030.com

A B2B platform helping corporations to measure and reduce emissions across their global supply chains. Successfully led on multiple UX/UI projects, resulting in improved user engagement and new business opportunities. Including:

- Creating a design system to improved development consistency and efficiency.
- Improve usability of supply chain emissions data tracking features.
- Designing a CO2 emissions calculator to answer users' need for an easy way to assess environmental impact in their manufacturing facilities.
- End-to-end design for Product Carbon Footprinting features. Collaborating with sustainability experts to develop a product emissions calculator, allowing M2030 to successfully enter a new market, drawing interest from numerous business leads.
- Creating an analytics dashboard to answer user needs. Empowering corporations to derive actionable insights from collected environmental data.

Pearson Education | Nov 2010 – Apr 2018

Summary

Hi,

I'm Siu Hang, a UX designer with over 15 years of experience across UX/UI, visual design, and creative direction. I strongly believe in the value of keeping user experience at the forefront of any design process; and that good design should be both efficacious and visually engaging.

Skilled at user research and problem-solving, I enjoy working collaboratively to tackle complex challenges, and create intuitive designs that deliver values for both users and businesses needs.
